

How to find the things you've heard about in Blue Grotto's cavern

This map will help you locate the items you may have heard people talk about when discussing Blue Grotto. You can see what these items look like by watching this video. The map also shows the relationship of the cavern to the open-water basin.

Depths in the cavern range from 30 to 40 feet at the entrance to around 60 feet at the back of the daylight zone. This helps make the cavern suitable for any certified diver who can maintain good control over buoyancy and trim. Remember that only certified Cave Divers may go past sight of the entrance and guidelines.

Keep as far away from the bottom as possible when in the cavern. You should never be closer to the floor than the level of the two guidelines.

In addition to the various statues, the Woodpile and air bell, you should also check out the two naturally formed bedding planes at the ceiling.

- One is located directly above where the right-hand guideline meets Peace Rock.
- The other is located a short distance behind the air bell.

Your head will need to almost touch the ceiling to peer into these bedding planes. You can see what to expect by watching this video.

If you have questions about anything on the map, just ask us.